A Successful End to Another Year

Students, parents, and teachers, you have my congratulations. In just a few days we will conclude another successful year of learning. Students, thank you for your hard work. Parents, thank you for your involvement. Teachers, thank you for creating a compassionate and effective learning environment.

DoDEA was able to secure funding for the DoDDS-E Summer Enrichment program; therefore, many students will be afforded the opportunity to continue their educational experience during the summer months. This program continues to increase in popularity among students and teachers alike. DoDEA and DoDDS-E will continue our efforts to expand the program so that there will be seats for all applicants, including families that arrive late in the school year. I appreciate your support and enthusiasm for the Summer Enrichment program.

For the fourth year, through the support of USAREUR, USAFE, and NAVEUR, we will broadcast our graduation ceremonies to military parents deployed around the world via the Internet. Information on how to access these webcasts are being sent home with those students who have indicated they will have a parent deployed on graduation day. Families with deployed parents who have not received this information should contact their school principal.

The summer months always bring many changes in military communities, with families transferring in and out. If you are sponsoring an arriving family, have new neighbors, or know of an incoming family with school age children, please encourage them to register their students as early as possible. Most of the registration process can be completed online, even before families leave their present assignment. Early registration is vitally important and provides us with the information we need to appropriately staff our schools.

In closing the 2006-2007 school year, I wish each of you a safe and enjoyable summer break. If you will be returning to DoDDS-E next year, please consider volunteering, mentoring, and getting involved with the organizations that support our schools. Their success is directly proportional to the assistance and support you provide to them.

Thank you.

Director, DoDDS-Europe
